CLINICAL AND FORENSIC INTERVIEW SCHEDULE PROCEDURES

This interview schedule (CFIS) provides a format for recording and organizing data necessary for scoring individual Psychopathy Checklist items and arriving at a Total PCL-R/PCL:SV score. The CFIS format reduces standard administration time by 30-90 minutes depending on the examination setting and specific case. The CFIS has three sections: 1) record review, 2) chronological adult life history, and 3) item interviewing. By the completion of Section III the examiner is able to arrive at a Psychopathy Checklist score. The same format is used for both the PCL-R and PCL:SV, however, when the examiner is conducting a PCL:SV interview only those relevant items are coded. A subsequent examiner may later use the same interview schedule to complete the full PCL-R. Psychopathy assessments also require use of a MHS PCL-R or PCL:SV Rating Booklet and Scoring Sheet (Hare, 2003).

SECTION I) RECORD REVIEW

Prior to interviewing, review all collateral information, recording the relevant data in Section III under the appropriate item or items. While essential for scoring the Psychopathy Checklists, collateral information is also necessary for determining the veracity of self-report data obtained during the interview phases of the CFIS. While some items may be scored reliably from record review only, in general, scoring impressions formed during the record review are subsequently adjusted based on information obtained during subsequent phases of the psychopathy assessment.

SECTION II) CHRONOLOGICAL ADULT LIFE HISTORY

Begin questioning concerning the examinees history at age 18 or when they left their parents or designated guardian's home. Life events such as, onset of incarceration (including juvenile detention), marriage, divorce, relocation, etc., suggest natural breaks. For example, an examinee leaves home at 16 and is subsequently incarcerated at 21. The 5-year period (16-21) is thoroughly assessed with questions, such as: (During that time ...) Where did you live? Live in an apartment? Own home? Lived with whom? How many marriages, live-ins, etc.? With parents? Who paid the bills? Ever late on rent? Bills? Utilities turned off? Evicted from an apartment? How often did you move? Default on loans? Have loans? Did you work? For how long? For who? Support self? Longest period without employment? Percentage of income obtained by illegal means? Was your main job crime? Fired from jobs? Quit jobs without giving notice? Drugs and/or alcohol on the job? Contacts with law enforcement? Arrests? Speeding tickets? DUIs? Drove while intoxicated? Drugs? Alcohol? Assess the frequency of specific behaviors, repeat "so during that period" often, and summarize each section, "Just to clarify, you said that during those 5 years you....". Then proceed, "and then what happened?", "After the divorce you...?". Similar questions are repeated for subsequent periods leading to the examinee's current age. Questioning is also modified to understand the examinee's behavior during periods of incarceration.

The experienced PCL-R/PCL:SV administrator will have little trouble in correlating the obtained historical information with specific Checklist items. The examinees self-report should be summarized in Section II, while relevant data should be recorded under corresponding items in Section III (item interviewing). Questions asked during the Chronological Adult Life History are designed to obtain information specific to psychopathy scoring. Other areas of clinical or forensic interest should be noted for subsequent interviews (after the CFIS is completed).
